Sponsoring Committee of 103 Thunderbird Squadron RCACS

Dear Recruit and/or Parent:

Thank you for your interest in Canada's most popular and successful youth organization! This guide is intended to provide important information to both brand new recruits and parents who have recently joined us, as well as potential recruits and parents who are interested in the Air Cadet Program. Please keep this guide throughout your first year of the program, so that you may refer to it for any questions that you may have. If you can't find the answer here, feel more than welcome to ask a member of the parent sponsoring committee or an officer of the squadron.

103 Thunderbird Squadron Royal Canadian Air Cadet Squadron (RCACS) serves the North Shore as one of British Columbia's best Air Cadet Squadrons. With close to 60 cadets, 8 Canadian Forces officers, and a complete parent Sponsoring Committee, the squadron offers youth aged 12 to 18 an extremely interactive and beneficial training program centered around aviation, leadership, survival training, range, drill and citizenship.

The cadet training year is split up into two parts: local training and summer training. Between the months of September and June, 103 squadron conducts local training on Wednesday nights from 18:30hrs to 21:30hrs at the Squadron's Headquarters. On these parade nights, we teach interactive classroom training that will benefit you for the rest of your life. On certain weekends, cadets can participate in optional practical training activities such as familiarization flying and survival training exercises. This is oftentimes the most fun part of the program!

The second part, summer training, takes place between the months of July and August. During these months, cadets are sent as ambassadors of 103 on various summer training courses that are specific to a certain aspect of the cadet program. This is also the time when cadets have the chance to receive a Glider Pilot's License and/or a Private Pilot's License (free of charge) through summer training courses. If aviation isn't your thing, you can attend other summer training courses based on topics such as Leadership, Survival, Physical Fitness and Instruction where you receive a weekly training allowance (you get paid to go!).

If you are a cadet that has recently joined our squadron, we encourage you to make some friends and talk to your fellow cadets about their experiences within the program. Parents are also encouraged to get involved with fundraising and recruiting activities through the parent sponsoring committee. If you are still thinking about joining and are simply gathering information about the Air Cadet Program, keep in touch with us and let us know of any questions that you may have. Also, please feel free to call to set up an appointment to tour the squadron facilities and see what a training night is really like!

We hope that you'll join us for an exciting year of growth and opportunities!

Regards,

103 Thunderbird Squadron Staff and Sponsoring Committee

Values of the Canadian Cadet Movement (CCM)

Vision of the CCM:

We commit to develop in each and every cadet qualities of leadership and an aspiration to become a valued member of their community. We reinforce values necessary to prepare youth to meet the challenges of tomorrow and to embrace the multicultural dimensions of Canada.

To this end, we offer dynamic training in a supportive and efficient environment where change is a positive and essential element.

We further commit to attain this vision by living shared Canadian values with particular attention to:

- Loyalty – The expression of our dedication to the ideals of the Cadet Movement and to all its members,
- Professionalism – The accomplishment of all tasks with pride and diligence,
- Mutual Respect – The treatment of other with dignity and equality, and
- Integrity – The courage and commitment to exemplify trust, sincerity, and honesty.

Cadet leaders encourage all cadets to incorporate these goals into their daily lives. The Cadet Program has succeeded in producing responsible, active and engaged members of society when cadets embrace these important principles into their lives.

Motto of the CCM:

“To Learn, To Serve, To Advance”

Aims of the Air Cadet Program:

1. To Promote Physical Fitness
2. To stimulate an interest in the air, land, and sea activities of the Canadian Forces
3. To develop in youth the attributes of good citizenship and leadership

The Oath of Loyalty

“I, (Full Name), hereby affirm my loyalty to her majesty the queen, her heirs and successors.”

Did You Know?

The vast majority of glider licenses in Canada are earned through the Air Cadet Program, with a national yearly average of about 75%. In some years, this figure can jump substantially. In 1999, air cadets earned 98% of all glider licenses in Canada, along with 10% of all national power licenses.

Frequently Asked Questions and Answers

What do I need to join?

You are eligible to join a cadet squadron if you are between the ages of 12 and 19 years of age. You must have reached your 12th birthday before you can be registered for the program. The documents required for enrollment in the Canadian Cadet Movement are:

- Proof of provincial health insurance (BC Care Card)
- Birth Certificate
- Proof of residency status (for non-Canadian citizens)

We also require cadets to have an interest in the program, a sense of dedication and respect, and a willingness to learn.

Why should I join Cadets?

Cadets offers challenges, friendship and adventure! It's an opportunity to expand your own horizons, contribute to your community and make friends for life. Many former Cadets credit their participation in the program with giving them a head-start toward their successful careers. Did you know that astronaut Chris Hadfield, Olympic biathlon gold medalist Myriam Bédard and actor Jim Carrey were all Cadets in their teens?

What do Cadets do?

Cadets are teenagers like you who take part in activities at Cadet Units within their local community. These activities are designed to help you to become more self-confident, to develop your leadership skills, to improve your physical fitness and communication skills, and to teach you self-discipline through challenging training.

What does it cost to join?

The Air Cadet League of Canada - British Columbia Committee, requires the donation of $180.00 per cadet per year of enrollment to cover provincial costs such as maintenance of the aircraft fleet and other such expenses. This fee is payable by cheque or cash to "103 Thunderbird RCACS" and can be accepted at the time of enrollment.

When does the squadron meet?

103 Thunderbird Squadron conducts its training parades on Wednesday evenings from 18:30hrs to 21:30hrs. Teams such as the drill team, range team, and first aid team will meet during other evenings of the week. Activities such as survival training exercises and flying will be conducted on weekends.

Will Cadet training affect my schoolwork?

Education is very important to Cadets. Cadet training is a hands-on, activity-based program that should complement your school studies. In fact, the BC Provincial school board accepts Cadet subjects and years of service for school credits. As well, there are several scholarships and training bursaries available through Cadets.

Do I have to buy my own uniform?

No. The Canadian Forces loan complete uniforms to Cadets. In return, Cadets are expected to take good care of their uniform by maintaining them weekly.

If I don't pay to join Cadets, then who pays?

The major partners in the Cadet Program are the Department of National Defense and Air Cadet League of Canada (a civilian non-profit corporation). These organizations work together to provide the facilities and material required to operate each Cadet Corps and Squadron.

What will I do at weekly meetings?

Some of the activities you can expect at your unit include ceremonial drill, first aid, sports, and citizenship events that support your community. Many Corps and Squadrons have a music program. Occasional weekend activities include survival training and marksmanship. There will also be plenty of time to have fun and make new friends!

What about summer camps?

For those interested, cadets have the opportunity to apply for training at various summer training centers located across Canada. Courses range from two to eight weeks in duration. Each camp offers a unique mixture of outdoor activities and valuable instruction. Attendance at Cadet Summer Camps is free. The Canadian Forces provide all transportation, meals, lodging and special equipment. Every Cadet attending summer camp receives a training allowance; Cadets in staff positions at camp receive a salary.

What do I do at summer camp?

Courses offered at Air Cadet summer camps include training in leadership, instructional techniques, music, marksmanship, flying, navigation, meteorology, air traffic control, ceremonial drill, physical education, computer skills, survival training, aerospace studies and citizenship. Advanced Cadets can qualify for glider scholarships and powered flight scholarships.

Are there travel opportunities?

Definitely! For summer training, Cadets travel to one of 28 Summer Camps located in different parts of Canada. In addition, selected Cadets go on exchange trips to countries such as the United Kingdom, Hong Kong, Bermuda, Japan, Sweden, South Korea, the Netherlands, France, Germany, Norway, Sweden, Scotland, Wales, Italy, Australia, Singapore, Turkey, the United States and Belgium under an international exchange program. Exchange Cadets are selected on their high standards in performance, fitness and involvement in Cadet activities.

Who instructs Cadets?

Cadets learn from members of the Cadet Instructors Cadre; officers who are specially trained to instruct and supervise youth. In some cases, civilian volunteers who possess special skills are called in to assist Cadet Instructors. Both the Cadet Instructors and civilian volunteers have chosen to dedicate their valuable time to helping Cadets reach their potential.

Will I be expected to join the Canadian Forces?

No. Cadets make absolutely no commitments regarding future military service, and are free to leave at any time. However, those who decide to join the Forces later on start out with the advantage of having learned valuable skills through Cadets.
